

How Technology Is Changing Recruiting, Retention In Home-Based Care

COVID-19 hasn't changed the workforce issues in home-based care, other than by making those issues worse at various stages of the pandemic.

What has changed over the last few years is how providers are trying to address their workforce woes. Increasingly, they are turning to technology to do that. Read more.